

Peg Runcie

Peg Runcie is an outdoor painter who captures light and color through direct observation of nature. She is inspired by New England's unique landscape and changing seasons, often conveying an impression of a scene along the shores of Cape Ann and Cape Cod. By fine tuning observation skills in the field and being continually curious and open to experimentation, she finds greater artistic growth and success. Peg is an exhibiting member of the Creative Arts Center in Chatham, where she has enjoyed studying with many nationally recognized contemporary artists. She is a juried artist member of both the Rockport Art Association & Museum and the North Shore Art Association, where her work is shown throughout the year. Peg lives in Westwood, MA.
